

Thanksgiving Week End Set Aside For Second Homecoming

Elaborate Plans Include Rally, Dance, Kansas Game, and Stunt Night

Thanksgiving week end, December 1 and 2, has been set aside for the second annual Homecoming of The George Washington University. Activities begin Friday, December 1, with the registration for visiting alumni taking place in Lambie House, the Women's Athletic Association's annual field day in the afternoon and pep rally in the evening, continue through the George Washington-Kansas football game Saturday afternoon and reach a climax in a colorful ball at the Willard Hotel Saturday evening.

On Friday all classes will be open and alumni are invited to visit classrooms and faculty offices, discuss phases of current education with professors, and inspect all buildings of the University. They will be guests of the University in the widest sense of the term.

In the afternoon the annual field day, when the W. A. A. will run off the finals in fall sports, will attract attention. A procession of the physical education students attired in sport dress will assemble in the Yard and accompanied by horseback riding enthusiasts will go to the Elipse, where they will circle the field in a colorful parade. All sport tournaments will be going on at the same time.

Pep Rally

The Hockey and Archery tournaments will be held at the Elipse while the Soccer contest will take place at the Monument Grounds on Constitution avenue. Tennis matches will be played off at the public courts at Seventeenth and B streets.

The biggest and most enthusiastic pep rally in the history of the University is planned for Friday night at the Central High School, according to James R. Kirkland, prominent graduate who heads the committee in charge. The University Band and the trio of cheer leaders will lead the rally.

Another feature of the evening's program will be original homecoming skits in competitive participation for which prizes will be awarded, according to Edith Grosvenor and Joe Danzansky, the committee in charge of skits.

Following the activities of the first day of the celebration, all fraternities will hold open houses.

The George Washington-Kansas football game Saturday afternoon will be the highlight of the week-end program. Immediately following the game,

Trade Organization Lauds Glee Club

Board of Trade Congratulates Singers on Performance
Tuesday Night

Winning the approbation of the Washington Board of Trade in their first appearance of the season, the George Washington University Glee Clubs sang last Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the board, and were enthusiastically received by a large number of business and civic leaders. At the conclusion of the program, the audience rose to applaud the University singers.

The meeting was something of a George Washington occasion, with an alumnus, Claude W. Owen, president of the Board of Trade, presiding, and with a number of trustees on the platform, including Robert V. Fleming, Stephen E. Kramer, John Joy Edson, Col. Ulysses S. Grant, Theodore W. Noyes, and Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer.

In a letter to President Marvin, Mr. Owen says: "On behalf of the Washington Board of Trade, permit me to extend through you to George Washington University and the members of its Glee Club our sincere expressions of appreciation for the fine musical treat they gave us in singing at the Board of Trade meeting last Tuesday evening."

"With approximately a thousand men present, I say unhesitatingly the close of the meeting found them discussing nothing but the excellence of the Glee Club and its performers."

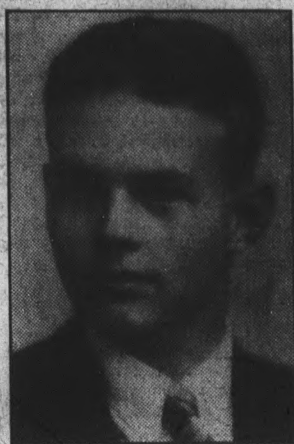

"We desire to express through you to Dr. Harmon, director of the club, and to every individual member thereof, our pride in the fact that the City of Washington has such a splendid musical organization in its midst."

Symphony Orchestra Needs More Violins

Director Louis Malkus has announced that there is still room in the Symphony Orchestra for additional violinists. Any students interested are asked to report to the next regular rehearsal, tomorrow night at 8:15 in Lambie House.

The orchestra is busily engaged in getting ready for its opening program, to be given in connection with the first student play the last of November. Haydn's Military Symphony is drawing the attention of the musicians at present, with other classics due to follow.

Heads Pledge Group

Pope, Council Head; Sibbet,
Davis, Porter, Carter, Metz
Get Other Posts

Ross Pope, Sigma Chi, was elected president of the Interfraternity Pledge Council at a meeting Sunday morning, October 29, at the Acacia House. Other officers elected were: James Sibbet, Acacia, vice-president; Richard Davis, Delta Tau Delta, secretary; Steve Porter, Sigma Nu, treasurer; Champ Carter, Phi Sigma Kappa, social chairman; and John Metz, Theta Upsilon Omega, activities chairman.

High School Press Convention Opens Here November 10

Sixty-nine High Schools From
D. C. and Vicinity to Be Represented

Sixty-nine high schools from Washington and vicinity are expected to send delegates to Washington's first High School Press Convention on November 10 and 11, sponsored by The Hatchet.

The committee in charge has arranged a program designed to interest and instruct high school students engaged in extra curriculum publications work. One of the highlights will be the formation of a High School Press Association.

Among the speakers on the convention program will be President Marvin, who will welcome the delegates, and George Brandt, president of the National Press Club. Mr. Brandt's address will be made at a luncheon given in honor of the delegates at the Press Club.

Other events which will be crowded between sessions of the convention will be a band concert by the University Band, a tea for women delegates by Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic society for women; an entertainment for men delegates by the Athletic Department and the Interfraternity Council, attendance at the George Washington

Schedule Announced For Year Book Photos

Pictures for the 1934 Cherry Tree, the student annual of the University, are now being taken at the Casson Studio, 1333 Connecticut avenue, daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and beginning on Tuesday, November 7, every Tuesday and Saturday evening from 8 to 10 p. m.

Students whose pictures are to appear in this year's issue are urged by Ralph Given, photographic editor, to have their pictures taken immediately, while the photographer is not so busy and while the $2 rate is in effect.

The pictures of all seniors, including those graduating in October, February and June, will be taken in informal dress. All members of fraternities and sororities will be photographed in formal attire. For the convenience of the women the studio will furnish a black dress for use in the formal pictures, thus making it unnecessary to bring along formal dresses.

For special appointments students should call the Casson Studio at Decatur 1333.

Doyle Lectures on Journalism To Newspaper Association

Dean Henry Gratton Doyle went to Richmond on Saturday to speak before the Virginia Intercollegiate Newspaper Association on the subject: "Some Functions of the College Newspaper." On November 18 Dean Doyle will address the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, meeting at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

Dean Doyle has taken an active interest in collegiate journalism for many years. He is Grand Secretary of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

WILBUR WILL LEAD CHAPEL

Provost William Allen Wilbur will lead the weekly chapel service of the University in Corcoran Hall Friday at 12:10.

Caminita Announces

Football Hop Staged
By Prom Committee

Benefit Dollar Dance to Be Held in Corcoran Hall
After Tennessee Game

A benefit dollar dance, to help erase the debts incurred by the Junior Prom last year, will be held in Corcoran Hall Saturday night, November 4, following the George Washington - Tennessee football game, according to Ludwig Caminita, chairman of the Junior Prom Benefit Committee.

Invitations have been extended to George Washington regulars and members of the Tennessee squad to attend the dance which will begin at 9 p. m. and end at midnight. It is estimated that upward of 500 Tennessee students will come to Washington to see the game. As they have expressed a desire to "do something that night," the committee is expecting a sell-out for the evening function.

Knapp-Davis' ten-piece orchestra, a unit that has acquired an enviable reputation in District collegiate circles, will provide the dance tunes that night. Knapp promises to present a snappy array of musicians with clever arrangements on current popular dance tunes.

Dance Is Benefit for Prom Committee

The benefit dance is a result of the efforts of the present senior class to erase the deficit incurred by last year's social high light the Junior Prom. Following an investigation into both Prom and Freshman Frolic debts by the Student Life Committee, Caminita announced that this dance would be run "on an airtight basis."

"We are not going to 'throw good money after bad,' as some have contended," Caminita said. "This dance is being run to make money for one that was a financial failure, so we are taking no chances. The orchestra, managed by a student here, has been kind enough to take a chance with us. It is playing on a commission basis, which will make it impossible for us to lose."

He added that this did not mean he expected a small crowd to be present at the Tennessee dance. "This is a benefit dance for an affair whose failure has injured the prestige of the University, somewhat. The student body knows it, and I feel certain it will co-operate with us in making this affair a financial as well as social success," he said.

Event Backed By Student Council

"Backed by the Student Council; encouraged by the Student Life Committee; and assisted by the Social Committee—who closed the date so that this dance would be the only one given that night—the benefit committee is running an exclusive dance for one of the biggest football games of the year," said Joseph Danzansky, president of last year's junior class.

Benefit Committee members include: Walter Rhinehart, Bernard Fagelson, Robert Hitch, Bernard Margolius,

Hatchet Reportership Exam Next Tuesday

All applicants for reporterships on The Hatchet staff will be required to take an examination on newspaper writing, Tuesday, November 7, at The Hatchet office.

The exam, which will be held twice, at 3 and at 8 p. m., will include a speed test on writing heads and leads, a news story for which a reasonable amount of time will be allowed, a psychological short answer test on the style sheet, and a test on newspaper practice and terminology.

Style sheets may be obtained on Friday, November 3, on the second floor of the Publications Office, 2016 H street.

Dramatics Board Calls Special Meeting To Consider Fate of Two Organizations

Cue and Curtain, Troubadours Hold Session to Discuss Recommended Course of Action; Marvin Fails to Reply to Troubadour Letter

A step toward solution of the University's dramatics problem was expected to have been taken last night at a special meeting of the Drama Board. At the meeting, called by Prof. Willard Hayes Yeager, not only members of the Drama Board itself, but all members of the Troubadour and Cue and Curtain executive boards, were invited to take part in discussions leading to a recommended course of action in the matter, which has aroused considerable interest in students at the University.

It is understood by The Hatchet that the calling together of the Board was prompted by President Cloyd H. Marvin, in order that he may receive the benefit of its suggestions before deciding upon the fate of the two leading campus drama groups.

The dramatics controversy began some time ago when Janet Young, business director of Troubadours, approached President Marvin with reference to the financing of this year's musical comedy. At this time Dr. Marvin voiced his emphatic disapproval of campus dramatic conditions in general, and of previous Troubadour productions in particular.

In a subsequent conference with the

Undeclared Colonial Eleven Seeks Win Over Powerful Tennessee Aggregation Saturday; Pep Rally Listed For Friday

'Beat Tennessee' Features Mass Meeting in Yard

MARVIN, BORDEN SPEAK
More Than 4,000 Expected to Attend; Band to Play New Songs

"The 'Beat Tennessee' pep rally scheduled for Friday afternoon at 4:45 in the University Yard, promises to outdo last season's Alabama rally in color and attendance," asserts Joe Danzansky, head cheer leader. Plans formulated by the Student Council include a rousing band concert, prominent speakers, and strenuous cheering practice which will all contribute to the gaiety and excitement preceding the Colonials' mixup with the Volunteers from Tennessee.

President Marvin, who last year addressed over 4,000 football fans at the Alabama rally, will speak again at this year's gathering. Dr. Daniel L. Borden, president of the General Alumni Association, who also addressed the pep meeting in the Yard last season, will again speak to the students. Coach Pixlee will give the student body a chance to hear one of his "fight talks."

Brand new songs, together with the old favorites, will be played by the University Band arrayed in full uniform. Joe Danzansky will lead the G. W. cheerleaders through their entire repertoire of cheers and yells, with some new ones for good measure.

Thousands of excited fans assembled last year to cheer the Colonials on for their hard fight with Alabama. After the rally had been opened by the Band, the Glee Club introduced the then new G. W. Rouser Song, and everybody joined in to sing "Hail to the Buff."

Among the speakers at last year's assembly were Mrs. Joshua Evans, Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, Provost William Allen Wilbur, and T. Elton Billings, president of Student Council last year.

Pierson States Rules For Cheer Section

Students whose activities books have been stamped "Cheering Section" will be admitted to the reserved section of the student stands until the section is filled at each of the remaining football games, according to a statement issued by Ted Pierson, director of the cheering section.

The rear seats will be filled first and so on until the section is filled. Thereafter no students will be admitted even though they have activities books properly stamped.

Pierson, in commenting on the fact that some students who expressed their willingness to participate in the section cannot secure reserved seats unless they arrive early, said, "I regret very much that all who signed up for the cheering section cannot be assured seats in the section. This condition is due primarily to the fact that it was found that only alternate rows could be used whereas the original intention was to use every seat."

Will He Play?

"ZUZU" STEWART

Kermit "Zuzu" Stewart, crack Colonial guard and outstanding candidate for all-American honors this year, may not be able to play in Saturday's game against Tennessee. The wiry Texan was forced out of the West Virginia Wesleyan struggle last Friday night early in the first period with an injury to his left knee, and the cracked member refuses to mend properly. Trainer Roland Logan stated yesterday that it was "doubtful" if Stewart could play in Saturday's game.

Symphony to Play At 'Louder, Please'

Orchestral Debut Takes Place
November 23 at Wardman
Park Theatre

By JOHN BANDSTRA

The official debut of the George Washington Symphony Orchestra will be made the evening of November 23 at the Wardman Park theatre in conjunction with Cue and Curtain's production of "Louder, Please."

Conductor Louis Malkus has arranged a 20 minute program of attractive classical music which should draw the music lovers on campus. In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, Newell Lusby, Cue and Curtain production manager, is arranging the stage so that the orchestra can be placed upon the stage during its part of the program.

This is a radical departure from past performances.

Lusby definitely stated yesterday that the program will begin with the Symphony and that "lights out" would be ordered for the opening number. In other words, the Symphony has arrived and is to be recognized as part and parcel of the Cue and Curtain presentation—not as a supplementary attraction.

As for the play itself, it is well on its way to perfection from the actors' point of view. Director Constance Conner Brown expressed satisfaction after last week's rehearsals, saying the group was well ahead of its schedule.

Third act rehearsals will begin next week. With the opening night of "Louder, Please" just three weeks off, the group will find itself hitting its stride at the proper moment.

University Presents Dr. Daniel Borbolla At Assembly Tonight

The University announces a special assembly in Corcoran Hall, room 10, tonight at 8:15, when Senor Dr. Daniel E. R. de la Borbolla, of the staff of the National Museum of Mexico, will give an illustrated lecture on the treasures from the excavations at Monte Alban, Mexico.

This collection, which is on exhibit this week at the Pan-American Union, includes the rarest archaeological jewels unearthed on this hemisphere, and is reported to rival both historically and intrinsically the discoveries in the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen in Egypt. Estimates fix their worth at $2,000,000. The collection was taken from a tomb of Mixtec warriors on Monte Alban, near Oaxaca in southern Mexico, and is hailed as the connecting link between the Mayan and Aztec civilizations.

The exhibit is composed of thousands of jewels taken from the tomb and includes exquisitely wrought gold work, several crowns of pure gold, 3,000 pearls, jade necklaces, rings of gold and precious stones, engraved vases of gold, and a golden mask described as the most unusual and valuable object of its kind ever found. Most of the jewels are believed to have been made at a period from 600 to 800 years before the Spanish conquest of Mexico.

The collection was found all in one tomb with bodies of 10 Mexican chiefs.

Buff and Blue Meets Season's Hardest Opposition

VOLS SOUTHERN CHAMPS

Brackett and Feathers, All-Conference Players, Will Lead Visitors' Attack

By JOHN BUSICK
(Sports Editor)

The unbeaten Colonial eleven, reaching the "stretch" of its schedule, runs into its hardest opposition to date next Saturday in Griffith Stadium when Tennessee's Volunteers invade Washington. Boasting the finest record of any team in the Nation over an eight-year period and co-holders of the 1932 Southern title with Auburn, Coach Bob Neyland's aggregation of gridders enter the battle with George Washington determined to atone for their two losses this year to Duke and Alabama, and to put themselves back in the national limelight by trimming G. W.

Victory in Saturday's game not only would restore the Vols' prestige, but would give them some balm for the trouncing their sister eleven in the Southeastern Conference, Auburn, received at the hands of the Colonials here two weeks ago.

Vols Staging Comeback

Defeating a previously undefeated Florida eleven, 13-6, in Knoxville last week, Tennessee proved that it was definitely on the comeback trail and should meet George Washington in fine moral fettle. Before Neyland's boys opened activities this fall, they had lost only two games in seven years and hadn't suffered defeat in their own stadium in this period. However, both of these records went glimmering shortly after the 1933 campaign began, when Duke beat the Vols 10-2, and the following week the Crimson Tide of Alabama journeyed up to Shields-Watkins field and dealt Neyland's team its first defeat before a home crowd since the illustrious Major came to Tennessee in 1926.

Although G. W.'s undefeated eleven should be the favorite to top the visitors after its triumph over Auburn and crushing defeat of West Virginia, Pixlee is attempting to keep overconfidence from seeping into his squad. The wily mentor has only to point to the strength of Tennessee eleven of the past to show his men that they are meeting

Speakers' Essays Due November 7

Davis Prize Contest for Ten-
Minute Persuasive Talks
Closes Next Tuesday

The Davis Prize Speaking Contest, which is sponsored annually by the Department of Public Speaking, is entering its eighty-sixth year. Seniors are reminded that the manuscripts are due at the Department of Public Speaking, third floor, Building Q, on or before noon of Tuesday, November 7. The speeches must be of a persuasive nature and fall within the 10-minute time limit.

The Davis Prize Speaking Contest for seniors claims many prominent persons among its past winners. One who is very well known is Dr. Elmer Louis Kayser, professor of history, who won the award in 1917. He talked on "The Position of the Supreme Court in Our Constitutional System," speaking from memory in the Old Chapel at Lister Hall, which had a seating capacity of only 200.

In reviewing further the records of the past winners of the Davis Prize, it is interesting to note that two other

Interfraternity Politeness

LAST WEEK the Interfraternity Council went on record protesting against the Student Council Social Calendar regulation which prohibits more than three sorority and fraternity dances on the same evening.

The Interfraternity Council believes that the Student Council is overstepping its rights by dictating to the fraternities what may be done within fraternity houses. They resent such dictatorship and partly for this reason they refuse to look at the whole question with a sympathetic attitude.

The idea of an impartial committee allotting dates on a social calendar originated with the Interfraternity Council—not with the Student Council. It was as a favor to the Interfraternity Council and as a service to the University that the Student Council took over this regulation. The Council is only "referee."

It is a matter of convenience and financial expedience to limit the number of dances in one evening. Fraternities ought—and most of them do—invite men from other houses to their dances. Such courtesy is impossible with a number of dances being held at one time. Sorority and fraternity dances conflict to an even greater degree because of the obvious fact that one can not be in two places at one time.

The dances are given so that we may have a good time. Isn't it sensible to so arrange this program that the most number of people may enjoy themselves the greatest number of evenings? This does not mean that this calendar is for the special benefit of the small group of dance crashers who attempt to attend all of the dances uninvited but many of the women are welcome guests at almost all of the houses. The fraternity men really miss them but don't want to admit it. The principle works both ways but the sororities are wiser—they try to avoid giving a dance when another sorority has picked the same date.

Let us think the matter over and try to bring back some of the spirit which the Interfraternity Council built up last year—that of being a world of "fraternity men" not Alpha Alphas hating Beta Betas and both groups hoping "that brawl of theirs is a flop anyway."

You wouldn't try to give a party in your own home when your best friend sent out invitations to the same people for a party at his home two weeks before, would you?

Will You Attend?

The committee on last year's Junior Prom is planning a dance following the Tennessee game, in an effort to raise money to pay off old Prom debts. In addition to receiving permission for a closed date from the Student Council's Social Calendar Committee, the committee has been given a vote of confidence and support by the Council itself.

We wish to inform the Junior Prom committee that it has the support of The Hatchet as well. "Students are urged to attend" is a phrase strictly forbidden to our reporters. They must write, "Students have been urged to attend by Jimmy Jones," or "James A. Jones, president, urges all students to attend." But in an effort to help clear up a very nasty situation, we are breaking our own rule.

The dance will be enjoyable. It will be a fitting climax to an exciting day in University history. A crowd of your friends will turn out, we hope. Turn out yourself, students!

On Other Campuses

THE University of Kentucky has its own radio programs on a Louisville broadcasting station. These include collegiate dance orchestras, lectures, and classical music.

"We've got them on our list." At the University of Kansas, there is a list published regularly of all those professors who keep their classes overtime.

At Newcomb University, the Women's honorary society, Alpha Sigma Sigma is undertaking freshman government, in order to instruct them in the Newcomb honor system.

An expedition from Tulane University was sent to Yucatan in order to study a Mayan temple, the replica of which is now being erected at that University.

And so the story goes that a professor of the University of Oklahoma saw two students communicating in sign language. By the same method he signalled, "Don't do that any more." They didn't.

Rutgers University will have fewer formal and expensive house parties, and less expensive general dances next year, according to Dr. Frazie Matzger, dean of men, although no action to that effect will be taken this year.

One Saturday in September of every year Rensselaer Polytechnic sophomores meet the freshmen in a five-inning baseball game, second a "battle of the century" and last, those freshmen still conscious, participate in the annual "cane" rush.

Male students at Ohio State Teachers College live on two dollars a week.

OUT IN THE WORLD

By GEORGE Y. JARVIS

DURING a mock trial last year at the University of Alberta, one Armand Powlett received such a hazing that he lost his mind. The father charged, when he sued the university for damages, that the boy was stripped, beaten and subjected to cold showers. The name of Canada's premier was written on his forehead with indelible ink, because he refused to say that a sophomore is the highest form of humanity. Last week the courts awarded $57,860 and costs to the insane boy and his parents.

Yet who would trade his sanity for a pile of dollars? And what father would not mortgage his last cent in order that a son, here in school to feed his mind, might keep mentally well?

REMEMBER the Scotch national anthem when you get tired of hearing about rubber dollars and the gold market—"The Best Things in Life Are Free." They really are, just as the best things at Chicago's fair were the free ones.

The humble librarian furnishes us some of these free best things. You may be interested to know that several thousand librarians recently met in convention—in Chicago by the way—and considered some weighty matters. Book circulation has increased 40 per cent in these past three years of depression, with nearly five million new library-users. Yet there are still 44 million people in the United States who are without library service of any sort. (Talk about "overproduction!")

JUST BETWEEN US--

By LUDWIG CAMINITA

THE George Washington Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Louis Malkus, will make its official debut November 23 at the Wardman Park Theatre in conjunction with the Cue and Curtain presentation, a page one story informs us. It is gratifying to note that not only has the Symphony Orchestra become a reality but it has attained the dignity of a real concert orchestra—it is now "part and parcel" of the program.

THE group will be arranged on the stage and lights will be turned out with the opening number. This will, I hope, erase the present Washingtonian habit of chattering, laughing, and moving about while the orchestra plays. I recall the difficulty I had at the "Cock Robin" show, last year, in hearing the concert portion of the program. Gay young ladies rushed up and down the aisles greeting one another, elderly ones entertained each other with giggling anecdotes, and the men indulged in subdued laughter, while the remaining few attempted to enjoy the efforts of the musicians.

It is bad enough taste to find in town audiences, but it is even worse when the custom prevails among university men and women who presumably know better. However, I suspect that these annoyances will be lessened considerably this year. First, because lights will be out, and secondly, because the orchestra will be so much better than is expected that the offenders may find themselves among the minority group.

A SCENE in "The Bowery," the cinema starring Wallace Beery, reminded me of a situation seen recently on campus. Beery, the hero, had fallen from a state of glory to one of abject poverty. Those ladies and gentlemen who had been happy to call him friend before were now reluctant in greeting him. He was out, and they knew it. The King is dead, long live the King.

The Press Is Impressed

News Sports Writer Tries to "Track Down" School Spirit Which He Has Discovered at George Washington

By RICHARD HOLLANDER
(From The Washington News)

ALTHOUGH you don't hear much about it anymore since the old football overemphasis bugaboo went the way of most other sports reformations, there lingers on a faint stench of what the belittlers call synthetic college spirit.

A lot of this has been going on here, pertaining mostly to our sprawling institution of higher learning, George Washington.

How much of all this rah-rah-ing that has been going on in connection with the Colonial's games the past few seasons has been doctored up by that master of local press-agentry, Jack Espey?

It's pretty hard to track down such a thing as school spirit, put your foot on its neck and ask whether or not it's real, but from all indications along the highways and byways of G. W.'s concrete-plastered campus, there is much to indicate that the lads and lassies are actually ready to die for dear old Corcoran Hall.

THEY'RE having real movie pep meetings before the games, listen to speeches by campus high-collars and are practically ready to build a bonfire any day now.

Almost 5000 students sat in on the Colonial's victory over Auburn and when you consider that of the entire body of 7000 who attend G. W., many hundreds are older folk whose interest in football is something less than fanatical, the numbers that do come out and yell aren't so poor.

And this heightening interest seems to have its effect even on G. W.'s hard-boiled footballers. Say what you will, a lot of Betty Coeds and Jo Colleges yelling their heads off from the stands will make anybody play a little better.

They say that a certain substitute end was so broken up because he didn't get a chance to do his bit against Auburn for the honor and glory of G-st that he was discovered in a corner two hours after the game weeping real tears of disappointment.

Those weren't the only tears, either. Freshman Coach Jean (Kewpie) Sexton was so pleased with the victory that he actually wept tears of joy. That doesn't much sound like cold money-grabbing.

Better still, those who saw President Cloyd Heck Marvin's antics on the bench could only imagine that the good educator's high glee was something more than academic.

NOW ALL this isn't a long argument to prove that football at G. W. is Pollyanna stuff, nor that it is carried on by a lot of boys whose only interest in life is to wear letters on their manly chests. But, big league football is making something more of a school of George Washington.

Which is just exactly what the mighty brains had in mind when they suddenly induced that band of mighty freshmen to enroll four years ago.

Bigger and better things are being planned for the Tennessee game next Saturday. The special, card-wielding cheering section—the idea for which originated among the students themselves, incidentally—will be the better for a little more training and the band, inspired, it is fervently hoped, by its new drum major will blast you out of your seats.

There may even be a snake dance on F-st if the home town folks win, something that hasn't happened here in a big way since Georgetown fooled everybody and beat a great Lafayette team a decade ago.

The Cuban authorities now have the sympathy of George Washington sorority members after the struggle the women had this month trying to feed the starving rushes on the slashed budget.

Some students want to know if the new library rules allowing the withdrawal of reserve books for home study is any reflection on the intelligence of the class of 1937.

TO THE EDITOR:

There are many clubs on the campus of George Washington, but they are either purely social, or else highly specialized in some field of study. I think there is definite need for a club concerning itself solely with student problems: campus questions as well as the issues of the day which concern us as students. Such a club would be, all in one, a History Club, Economics Club, International Club, Government Club, but in no sense would it be encroaching upon their specialized activities. It would rather be approaching their problems from another point of view—that of the student proper.

The students with whom I have discussed the question of organizing such a Student Problems Club are anxious to take part. Interested University students, graduate or undergraduate, should drop a note to the writer at 1028 Connecticut Avenue, stating which nights of next week they are free to attend a preliminary organizational meeting. The only prerequisites are a little time and a lot of enthusiasm.

HAROLD L. POSNER.

25 Years Ago

By JAMES HALEY

AFTER scoring five straight victories and holding all opponents scoreless, George Washington was defeated by the strong Navy eleven 17 to 0. Although defeated, George Washington surprised football followers by holding the Middies to a close score and playing a much better game than did Harvard the week previous.

A movement has been begun to establish an organized cheering section for football games.

Halloween Brings Parties, Dances

Newman Club, Z. T. A., Acacia, Sigma Mu Sigma, Delts, Juniors Hosts

The past week end was one of festivity for many George Washington students. Both Friday and Saturday nights were the occasion for dances and parties of all types in celebration of Halloween. Kappa Delta, Acacia and Delta Zeta entertained at informal dances following the game Friday night.

Saturday night Kappa Sigma's alumni held a costume dance at the chapter house, which was decorated in a holiday manner, and the members and their guests danced to George Vass' melodies. Sigma Alpha Epsilon decorated the chapter house with gay posters and canopies and danced to the strains of McWilliams' band. At the Theta Delta Chi house, costumes were also in order and Knapp-Davis' orchestra provided dance tunes. Phi Sigma Kappa's social committee staged a successful "tacky" party, at which old clothes and fancy dress were much in evidence and the Trojans furnished the rhythm. Sigma Nu held a formal dance at the chapter house at which members from Lafayette and Washington and Lee chapters were the principal guests. More Dances Planned for Coming Week End

The coming week end bids fair to be as entertaining as last. The Halloween dance of the Newman Club will be held at the Powhatan Springs Club Thursday, November 2. Happy Walker and his orchestra will furnish the music, while Leonard Ebel will sell tickets to anyone calling Decatur 1052 for $1.00 stag and $1.50 per couple. Friday night Zeta Tau Alpha will entertain its pledges at a dance at the Admiral with the Silver Crescents supplying dance tunes. Acacia is having a dance Friday night at the chapter house, with LeGrande's orchestra providing the melodies. Sigma Mu Sigma is also having a dance at its chapter house Friday night.

Saturday night the Junior Prom Committee is going to have a dance in Corcoran Hall following the Tennessee game that afternoon. Delta Tau Delta is having its annual Halloween costume dance Saturday night at the chapter house. Bob Lavender's orchestra will furnish the music.

Wesley Club Plans Steak Fry in Rock Creek Park

A steak fry will be given by the Wesley Club November 1 in Rock Creek Park, which the club invites all Methodist students of the University to attend. They will meet in front of Corcoran Hall at 7:30 p. m. If the weather does not permit going out of doors the party will be held in Lambie House. Those who plan to go are asked to leave their names with the secretary at District 7944.

Women Shoot Semi-Finals Of Golf Tourney This Week

Betty Shipp will play Sue Johnson and Frances Thompson will play Virginia Dillman in the semi-finals of the women's golf tournament this week at the Rock Creek golf course.

In the second round, played last week, Betty Shipp defeated Marje Hatke, 2 up; Sue Johnson defeated Janice Hale by a score of 3 and 2; Virginia Dillman won from Virginia McDonnell by default; and Frances Thompson scored 3 to 2 over Betty Rose. The finals will be played next week.

The first round of the tennis tournament will be completed this week, and the second round will begin.

Maiden Form
FOR YOU?

Left: Maiden Form's new "Dee-La-Tay" bralette, for the new "high, wide" lines so important this season—note its unusual V-pointed front line.

Right: "Full-Fashion" "Maiden Form" bralette that "fits like a stocking"—seamless, "skin-smooth" through the breast sections.

Left: An evening version of "Dee-La-Tay" with a very low-cut back that can be adjusted to three different low necklines.

Right: This bralette gives a exceptionally good uplift support to the bust, plus diaphragm control by a well-fitted band.

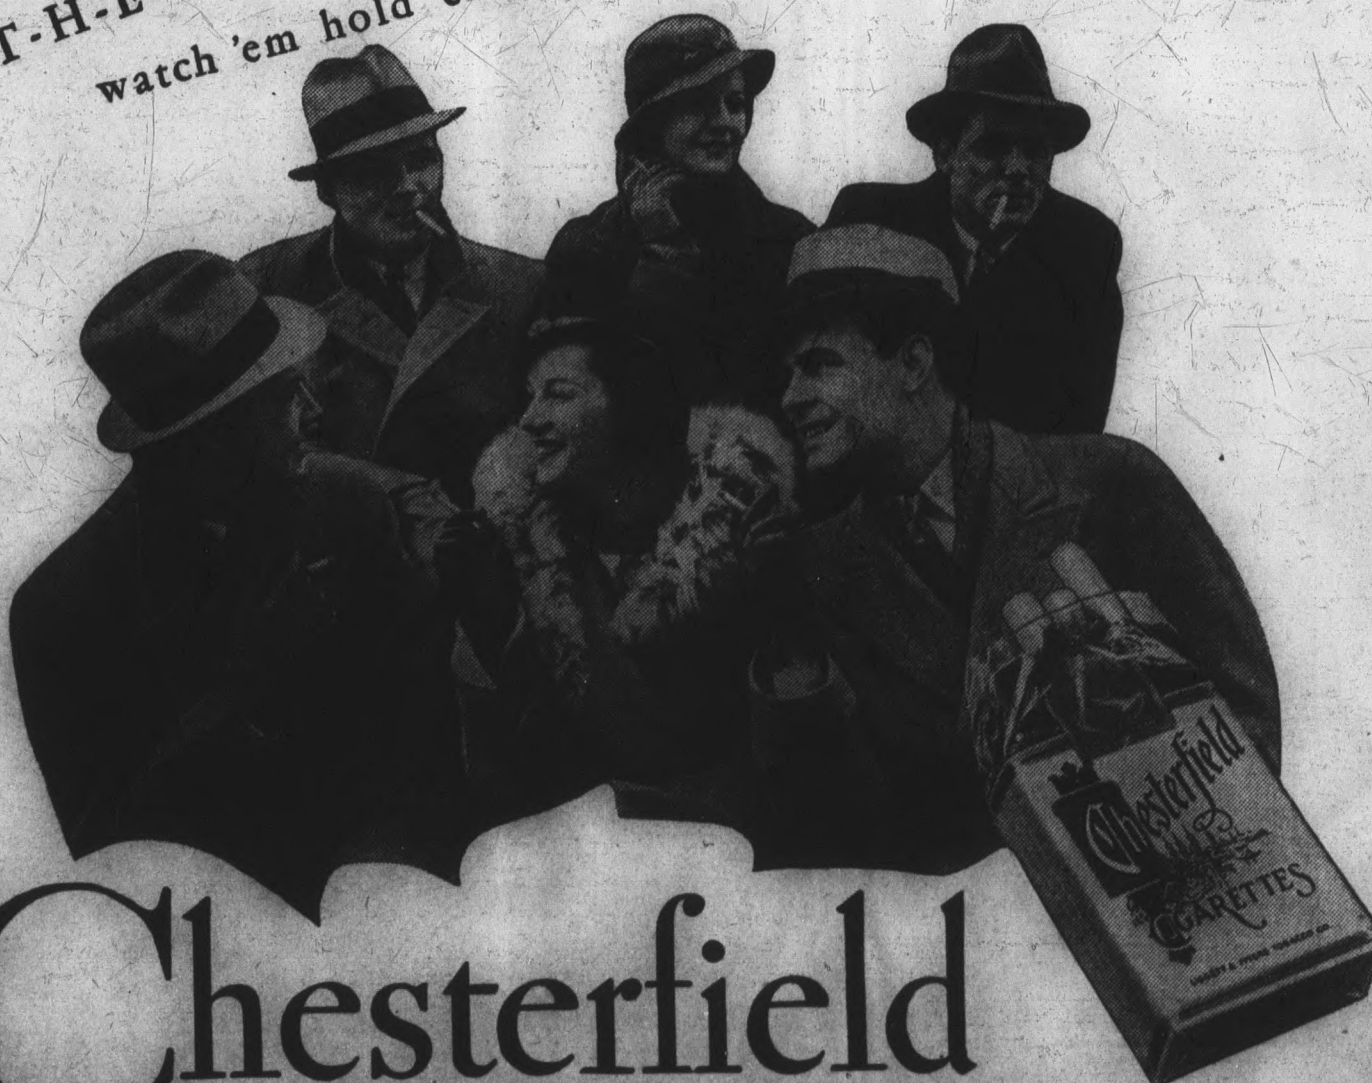

Left: One of Maiden Form's new "High-Waist" girdles that subtly smooths the hips and at the same time gives the waistline a gentle curve.

As the few styles illustrated above show you, there are Maiden Form foundation garments to take care of all types of figures and to suit every costume need. Each is designed to idealize your figure in terms of fashion's latest demands. Ask your dealer to show you the new Maiden Form—or write for free booklet, Dept. ### TENNESSEE INVADES COLONIAL TERRITORY SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Brackets and Feathers!!!

Heading the powerful running attack of the Volunteers will be two men whose names were prominent in the South last year, both being all-Conference selections, and will be considered this season when the experts look over candidates for the all-American. These men, Deke Brackett and Beattie Feathers, are probably the best all-around backs listed to exhibit their wares in Mr. Griffith's ball yard this year and their every move will be closely eyed by the Colonial line and alert secondary.

Brackett is the signal barker and key man in the Vol lateral pass, reverse, fake and spinner plays, feeding the ball to the dashing Feathers and the driving Pete Craig, sophomore fullback, for big gains. It was the work of these three players on just such plays that enabled the Tennessee offense to find itself against Florida after three scoreless quarters and quickly produce two touchdowns.

Feathers Is Spark Plug

Feathers is the spark-plug of the Neyland offense. He does the punting in a manner that makes kicking a part of the Vol offense as well as defense. He is a fine running back, starting with a charge that usually rocks opposing lines, and if he gets in the open, speeds through the secondary with a fast, shifty motion that has accounted for many tallies when they were most needed. He blocks well, is an expert in the fine art of passing, and backs up his side of the line in a fashion that usually makes opposing quarterbacks send plays the other way. In general he is the answer to a coach's prayer, and if he has a good day, should produce a brand of football on a par with that shown here by the famous Johnny Cain.

Council of Baptist Students Hear Miss Slattery Lecture

On Wednesday evening, October 18, the executive council of the Baptist Student Union attended one of a series of lectures given by Miss Margaret Slattery, well-known writer of girls' books, at First Congregational Church. The lecture, sponsored by the Women's Council of the Washington Federation of Churches, was on the subject, "Youth Rides Out the Storm."

The executive council will hold an Open-Council Meeting at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening at Lambie House. All Baptist students are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the special program which has been arranged.

Appoint Fay Bentley Judge of D. C. Court

A George Washington University Law graduate, Miss Fay L. Bentley has been appointed by President Roosevelt to the bench of the Juvenile Court of the District of Columbia.

The new judge received her Bachelor of Laws degree in 1930. Previously, she was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Miss Bentley is well known as a child welfare worker. For a number of years she has been an official of the District schools, in charge of attendance and work permits. She came to Washington in 1920 as a Red Cross worker and later handled child labor tax certificates for the Department of Labor. Subsequently, as special agent for the Children's Bureau, she traveled throughout the country studying child labor conditions.

SPEAKERS' ESSAYS DUE NOVEMBER 7 FOR DAVIS PRIZE

present members of the University faculty have had the distinction of winning the award. Dr. William Cabell Van Vleet, dean of the Law School, was winner in 1908. L. Russell Alden, a member of the Law School faculty, received the honor in 1903. Another distinguished faculty member, who won the contest in 1883, was H. L. Hodgkins, late dean of the University.

Among the prominent graduates who won the cup are: Ralph W. Benton, present managing editor of the Washington Times; Harry C. Davis, secretary of the Board of Trustees; and Maximo M. Kalaw, dean of the University of the Philippines.

Reviewing the record of past winners further, the names of two very eminent women appear: Miss Elizabeth Peet, dean of women at Gallaudet College, and Genevieve Frizzell, the actress who played in last year's Broadway success, "Another Language."

Dr. Robert W. Bolwell to Broadcast on Culture

Dr. Robert Whitney Bolwell will speak on "New Avenues of Our National Culture" on the George Washington University program, Thursday, November 2, at 8:30 p. m., on Station WMAL.

Professor of American literature, Dr. Bolwell has done pioneer research work in American letters and recently returned from an extensive tour of all parts of the country, during which time he collected material from a proposed cultural history of the American people.

Students to Attend Lutheran Conference

The annual conference of the North Atlantic region of the Lutheran Student Association, to be held on the third, fourth, and fifth of November at Wagner College, Staten Island, New York, will be attended by a delegation of George Washington students.

Headed by Dr. and Mrs. Raymond John Seager and Miss Frances Disinger of the Lutheran Inner Mission Society, and including Margaret Stirewalt, Marion Fowler, John Albert, John Hagenbuch, and George Lowderman, the delegation, with two or three students from Maryland University, will leave for New York early Friday morning and return some time late Sunday evening.

The conference of the association, of which John Hagenbuch is the vice president, will be attended by delegations from Columbia University, New York University, University of Pennsylvania, Cornell University, and all of the colleges in the North Atlantic region.

Dr. Ralph Long, executive secretary of the National Lutheran Council, will speak, as will Dr. Seager. The George Washington delegates are expected to take a prominent part in the discussions.

Special arrangements have been made to take care of out-of-town delegates by Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, Director of Women's Personnel Guidance.

The committee of students in charge consists of Walter Rhinehart, chairman; Catherine Frichard, Harriet Atwell, Evelyn Eller, Virginia Hawkins, and John T. Madigan.

THANKSGIVING WEEK END SET ASIDE FOR SECOND HOMECOMING

G. W. and Kansas teams will be guests of the General Alumni Association at a dinner at the Willard Hotel. The teams will be greeted at this time by President Cloyd Heck Marvin, Coach James Pixlee, Coach Ad Lindsey, and the visiting Kansas coaches, according to Dr. Daniel LeRay Borden, president of the Association. Representatives of the Kansas State Society are also expected to attend this dinner.

Climaxing the crowded program will be the annual ball at the Willard Hotel.

The homecoming will be under the sponsorship of the General Alumni Association and University activities leaders who will assist in the arrangements are: James E. Pixlee, Max Farrington, and Jack Espey, all of the athletic department; Wendell Bain, president of Omicron Delta Kappa; William Helvestine, president of the Student Council; Gordon Sullivan, president of the Interfraternity Council; John Madigan, editor of The Hatchet; Ted Pierson, chairman of the cheering section; Clara Critchfield, president of the Panhellenic Association; and Edith Grosvenor, president of Hour Glass.

Sigma Nu Takes Tennis Title: Greek Quints Start Tomorrow

Antignat-Allen Duo Proves Too Strong In Spirited Contest

Coakley Provides Lone Kappa Sigma Point in Win From Mitchell

Sigma Nu climaxed its quest of the interfraternity tennis title by defeating the Kappa Sigma netmen, League A champions, in a well-played match, 3-1. Antignat and Allen continued their steady play, taking their singles engagements and teaming together for doubles, again accounting for all of their team's points.

Coakley, Kappa Sig, kept his team in the running by taking Mitchell in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5.

With visions of another victorious doubles rally, the Kappa Sig doubles team of Robey-Jones went to work with a vengeance and, though losing 2-6, 6-4, 3-6, had the consolation of being the only team to extend the Antignat-Allen combination.

In this match Allen was especially brilliant, his net play being the feature of many rallies. Antignat defeated Jones, 6-2, 6-0. Allen defeated Robey, 6-0, 6-2.

Acacia defeated Phi Sigma Kappa in golf for the League A title and earned the right to contest Sigma Nu, League B title-holder, for the cup.

A paradox was provided in this match. This is the first year Acacia has placed a golf team and it has won to the finals, whereas this is the first time in a blue moon that Phi Sig is unrepresented in the finals of either tennis or golf.

W. & J. Outplays Carnegie Tech, 0-0

Tennessee Comes Back With Victory Over Florida; Feathers Stars

Something of what remains in store for the Colonials in future games may be divined by studying Saturday's returns. Washington and Jefferson held the noted Carnegie Tech eleven to a scoreless tie and Tennessee returned to form with a 13-6 victory over Florida.

W. & J. is looming up bigger and bigger each week on the Colonials' grid horizon. Early in the season they held a highly rated Pitt machine scoreless for 57 minutes and last week they outplayed and outgained the mighty Tartans, victors over Notre Dame. The aggressive Presidents rolled up 13 first downs to Carnegie's nine and put on the sole serious scoring threat of the game when they marched 70 yards in the third quarter to Tech's 8-yard line, to be stopped when a pass was grounded over the goal line.

Tennessee's victory over a strong Florida eleven was featured by the Vols' usual last-quarter comeback. Trailing 6-0 when the final period opened, Tennessee, led by the famous Feathers and Craig, a sophomore back, launched two line drives that would not be denied. Feathers took a lateral and went around left end for 23 yards and then through tackle for nine more, which laid the ball on the four-yard line, and from there Craig scored for the first marker. Beginning again in midfield, the Vols rushed the ball to the 13-yard line and there lost it, but, recovering a fumble on Florida's 6-yard stripe, Craig and Feathers each made three yards for the final touchdown.

With Tulsa unscheduled, the Kansas-Kansas State game was the sole remaining contest involving Colonial opponents. The Jayhawkers and the Wildcats of State battled evenly until the ever-dangerous aerial offense of the latter clicked in the third quarter, when Stoner took a pass from Lee Morgan in the end zone for the game's only touchdown.

Lyman Expects "Big Four" to Rule Swims

According to Coach Al Lyman, the Colonial swimming team will have a "big four" composed of Captain Max Rote, Dyer Ghormley, Henry Vedder, and Johnny Hain, all outstanding veterans.

Captain Mox Rote is the District A. A. U. 50- and 100-yard free style record-holder. Dyer Ghormley is a "triple threat" man—holder of District A. A. U. breast stroke records, a powerful crawl stroke and is a fancy diver. Henry Vedder is holder of the District A. A. U. 50-yard free style record; and Johnny Hain is the District A. A. U. back stroke record-holder.

Besides the "big four," there are other formidable veterans and several promising newcomers. With this wealth of talent Coach Al Lyman anticipates a winning team.

Grid Results

Following are the results of games played last week by teams yet to be met by George Washington:
Tennessee, 13; Florida, 6.
Kansas, 0; Kansas State, 6.
Washington and Jefferson, 0; Carnegie Tech, 0.
Tulsa did not play.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO RUN 308 AT BILLIARDS!

ERICH HAGENLOCHER, twice 18.2 balk-line billiard champion of the world. Healthy nerves have carried him through stern international competition to many titles. Mr. Hagenlocher says: "For successful billiard play, watch your nerves! I've smoked Camels for years. They are milder. They never upset my nervous system."

TALKING IT OVER calls for more Camels. Steady smoking reveals the true quality of a cigarette. Camels keep right on tasting mild, rich and cool... no matter how many you smoke.

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

"I know of no sport," says Erich Hagenlocher, "that places a greater strain on the nerves than tournament billiards. The slightest inaccuracy can ruin an important run. One simple rule for success is, 'Watch your nerves!' I have smoked Camels for years. I like their taste better. Because they are milder, they never upset my nervous system, and believe me, I smoke plenty."

There is a difference between Camel's costlier tobaccos and the tobaccos used in other popular cigarettes. You'll notice the difference in taste and in mildness—and Camels never jangle your nerves. You can prove this yourself. Begin today!

Renowned Bobcat Aggregation Falls Before Pixleemen

Undeclared Colonials Relentless in Furious Drive to Fame; Leemans Stars

Exhibiting a fine brand of teamwork and an efficiently functioning offense, the Colonials swept to an easy 33 to 0 victory over West Virginia Wesleyan in Griffith Stadium Friday night to remain in the ranks of the nation's rapidly diminishing list of undefeated teams.

The Bobcats, renowned in recent years for their sterling play against supposedly stronger teams, seemed powerless before the Colonial drive. With virtually the same line-up which this year upset New York University 3 to 0 and last year defeated Georgetown 20 to 0 and held Army to a 7 to 0 score, the West Virginians were unable ever to seriously threaten the Colonial goal line.

"Tuffy" Leemans, triple threat potential all-American sophomore halfback, was largely responsible for the sound drubbing handed the Bobcats. While he was in the game, his running, passing and kicking were ever-present features of the contest. In all he carried the ball 182 yards from the line of scrimmage.

Receiving the opening kick-off on his own 3-yard line, Leemans provided a real thrill for the large crowd present by carrying the ball the length of the field beset with enemy tacklers for a touchdown. Scarcely had the excitement from this brilliant run subsided when the same stalwart ball carrier broke through the line and reeled off 71 yards for another marker. Then in the second period he carved out a zig-zag course to negotiate the 31 yards intervening between himself and the goal line.

Duplicating his feat of the Auburn game, Quarterback Johnny Baker sliced through right tackle, then reversed abruptly to the opposite side for a 33-yard dash which netted a six-pointer.

Chris Doose very creditably filled the fullback position in the absence of injured Don Bomba by carrying the pigskin 21 times for a total gain of 124 yards. In the first period he romped 33 yards for the second Colonial touchdown.

Joe Hall, visitors' halfback, was the one bright spot in the Wesleyan line-up. He did most of the ground gaining for his team and also passed and kicked well.

Smith and Parleton Convicted of Arson

Former Fraternity President and Pledge Expect to Make Appeal

Albert Smith and Edward Parleton, former Sigma Chi president and pledge, respectively, were convicted on arson charges in District Supreme Court on Thursday, October 26, following six hours of deliberation by the jury. Smith and Parleton were immediately removed to the District jail pending arrangements for bail and appeal to a higher court. Local papers termed the verdict as surprising, describing the men as "stunned" by the decision.

The trial of Smith and Parleton followed as a result of an investigation by the District Fire Department. Fire inspectors declared the fire was of incendiary origin when they discovered traces of gasoline and the presence of gas containers on the premises. An investigation followed and a week later Smith and Parleton were arraigned.

Both men denied they had any knowledge of the fire, claiming to have been 62 miles from Washington at the time it was discovered. Identification by a filling station operator of one of the men as the purchaser of ten gallons of gasoline on the night of the fire placed the weight of suspicion on them.

Prosecution was based entirely upon circumstantial evidence, there being no eye-witnesses.

Smith and Parleton provided six witnesses to support their claim that they were 62 miles away at the time the fire was discovered. Miss Helen Fried, of Goucher College, was the principal witness, testifying that the defendants visited her at her home in New Freedom, Pa., at 7 o'clock the morning of the fire.

The defense will appeal for retrial before a higher court.

Football Programs Lend Games Color

Adding to the already colorful atmosphere of Griffith Stadium when the George Washington Colonials meet opponents on the gridiron are the bright flashes of the football programs which are appearing at the games this year. These football programs are useful both before and after the kick-off. They contain a history of the record to date of both the Colonials and the visiting team, which is of interest before the game starts. The line-up of both teams gives valuable information to the spectators during the contest. Photos of G. W.'s eleven contained in the programs help to acquaint the spectators with the team.

The George Washington University Alumni Association sponsors the publication of the football programs. Proceeds from their sale go to the University Athletic Association and to the students who sell them. The largest sale of the programs was at the George Washington-Auburn game, when more than 2,000 were distributed.

Thursday Symphony Features Thomas

John Charles Thomas, world-famous baritone of the Metropolitan, will appear as guest soloist with the National Symphony Orchestra, on Thursday at 4:45 p. m. in Constitution Hall. Thursday's concert is in the nature of a return engagement for Mr. Thomas, whose brilliant performance at the National Symphony's opening concert last year was a highlight of the musical season in Washington.

Mr. Thomas will sing four works with the orchestra. The program follows:

- I. Adagio for Strings and Harp
Benedetto Marcello
- II. Dank Sei Dir Herr.....G. F. Handel
E Dove t'Aggiri.....Marcantonio Cesti
Zueignung.....R. Strauss
John Charles Thomas.
- III. Symphony No. 8, in F.....Beethoven
Allegro-vivace e con brio
Allegretto scherzando
Tempo di menuetto
Allegro vivace
Intermission.
- IV. Iago's "Credo" from
"Othello".....G. Verdi
John Charles Thomas.
- V. Two dances from "La Vida Breve"
de Falla

For the past several seasons, Thomas has been heard frequently throughout the United States in concert, opera and radio programs. As guest artist with the Chicago Civic, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and Los Angeles Opera Companies, he achieved notable triumphs and his debut at the Metropolitan

Law Libraries at Chicago Conference Emphasize Importance of Light Reading

World-wide Gathering Discusses Methods of Improving Library Facilities and Strengthening Ties With Social Sciences

That laughter and gaiety should prevail instead of the dreary silence usually found there was an innovation strongly stressed at the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Association of Law Libraries, according to Miss Helen Newman, University law librarian, who has just returned from Chicago, where she attended the conference.

Librarians from all over the United States, England, Europe, and the Far East, attending this convention were urged to instill in their patrons the desire to read for pleasure and not as a dull routine in an educational program. Emphasis was also placed on the necessity of keeping reading of primary interest as a pastime, particularly in view of the close competition of moving pictures and radio.

Miss Newman gave a paper on "William Cranch: Judge, Law School Professor, Reporter," which received favorable comment at the convention and will be published in the January, 1934, issue of the Law Library Journal.

Among the many distinguished guests at this convention were Dr. Breycha-Vauthier, law librarian of the League of Nations, who made an interesting comparison of the law libraries in civil law countries with the vast collection of cases in the common law nations, and Mr. Harvey Allen, of Bermuda, author of the book "Anthony Adverse," who commended highly the fine facilities of the libraries in the United States.

Of interest to law school professors and students is the resolution passed by the association recommending to the Committee on Index to Legal Periodicals that as soon as possible there be included in the index citations to legal articles appearing in non-legal periodicals. With the increasingly close affiliation of law with the social sciences, this resolution to include related material is of real importance not only to law librarians, but to professors, students, and all members of the legal profession.

Librarians from all over this country and parts of Europe were given an opportunity at this convention, which was in joint session with the American Legislators' Association and the National Association of State Libraries, to present their various problems at round table discussions.

Colonial Campus Club Asks For Rummage Sale Offerings

Drama Club Selects "Hearts"

To Replace Wurzel-Flummery

The Drama Appreciation Club has selected the one-act play, "Hearts," to take the place of "Wurzel-Flummery," which was previously announced as one of the three one-act plays to be presented November 21 in the Western Presbyterian Church auditorium.

Conference Meeting Here December 8

Relations Clubs to Meet December 8, 9, Under Auspices of Local Group

The Middle Atlantic Conference of International Relations Clubs will be held at The George Washington University on Friday and Saturday, December 8 and 9, under the auspices of the International Relations Club of this University.

Delegates will attend from clubs in 57 colleges and universities located in the States of Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia. Two delegates and a faculty advisor are eligible to attend from each club.

Registration Friday Morning
The convention will open at 10 a. m. Friday, December 8, with registration of delegates at the University lasting until 2 p. m. The opening session will be held at the Pan-American Union at 2:30 p. m.

Round table discussions will be conducted along three general lines: Monroism, Imperialism, and Pan-Americanism. The Friday evening sessions will discuss: What the Monroe Doctrine has meant, trade agreements, and and Seventh International Conference of American States. The Saturday afternoon tables will concern: What the Monroe Doctrine should mean, loan policies, and special pan-American conferences.

The International Relations Clubs are student organizations sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Their purpose is to foster objective and unbiased discussion of international affairs.

Business Meeting Held.
The business meeting will be held Saturday at 10:30 a. m., and the closing session Saturday evening.

Other student members of the clubs may attend the conference as observers.

Dobson Elected Honorary Member in Alumni Club

Hervie Alden Dobson, M. D., 1876, one of the oldest living graduates of the School of Medicine, has been elected to honorary membership in The George Washington University Alumni Club of Milwaukee.

As Dr. Dobson, who lives in Madison, is unable to travel, the constitution of the club was carried to him for his signature by Dr. Eleonore Cushing-Lippitt, president.

Dr. Dobson was in the Federal service in Washington for many years before his retirement in 1920. His son, Dr. William Hervie Dobson, also is a George Washington graduate, having received his degree from the Medical School in 1895. Dr. William Hervie Dobson is superintendent of the Forman Memorial Hospital in China, where he has been for the past 35 years.
